Call for Capabilities for Science and Technology for Security Research Deadline: September 30, 2010

Dear Members,

As part of USIC's business development initiative, we are working with current and potential clients who have identified technology needs that match USIC member capabilities in the following areas:

- Border and Maritime Security (Border, Maritime, and Cargo)
- Chemical and Biological Countermeasures (Chemical and Biological Research & Development, Threat Characterization & Attribution, and Agro Defense)
- Command, Control & Interoperability
- Explosives Countermeasures: IED detection, Standoff explosives detection (e.g., laser, neutron interrogation, other)
- Human Factors/Behavioral Sciences (forensics)

If your firm's capabilities include any of the above-mentioned technologies, we urgently request that you e-mail Khurram Chhipa, Project Associate at kchhipa@usic.net. Technologies may be of foreign origin. All information e-mailed to Mr. Chhipa regarding capabilities and technology will be kept confidential.
